PARENTING CLASS

Using the Love & Logic approach to teach adults how to support youth with challenging pasts.

Provided by:

Overview

This class will help you as parents and caregivers to provide three basic things to a child who has experienced trauma:

1. Nurturing relationships
2. Healthy expectations
3. Success opportunities

These basic things will result in giving your child hope. Hope gives them the understanding they can be loved, trust others, solve problems and that they are capable.

“Effective parenting centers around love: love that is not permissive, love that doesn’t tolerate disrespect, but also love that is powerful enough to allow kids to make mistakes and permit them to live with the consequences of those mistakes.”

— Foster W. Cline

What to Expect

- Parenting class is based on the Love & Logic approach developed by Jim Fay and Foster W. Cline, M.D.
- Focused on teaching practical strategies for working with severely disturbed youth in school, community and home.
- Taught by a trained CASA employee
